www.orchestra-instruments.com

Gheychak or Ghijak (aka Ghaychak, Ghichak, Sorud, and Sarinda) is widespread throughout Asia under various names and forms..

Gheychak is a round-bodied musical instrument with 3 or 4 metal strings and a short fretless neck (as a Kamancha). The soundbox is carved out of a single piece of wood. The upper orifice is partly covered in the middle by the handle and the lower one is covered by a skin membrane against which rest the bridge. (The complex shape reminiscent of a skull with big eyes caves.) The upper and lower sections are separated by two oval indentations on the right and left side which give the Gheychak a distinct nasal sound.
